DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 29-37, 39, 41-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Boucher (US patent 3,561,444).

In regard to claims 29-37, 39, 41-50, Boucher's device discloses an electrical contact member comprising: a strength-imparting base layer (see fig. 4) made of an electrically conductive material; and a coating layer formed from metallic silver and configured to come into contact with the two electrically conductive members, the coating layer being present over at least a portion of an outer surface of the base layer (33, 34), wherein the coating layer has a micro-structure formed by pure silver crystals, with a presence of nodules made of silver and of an additional metallic material formed by at least one additional metal that is different from silver (33, 34), the additional material being present in the coating. The voltage limitations and the arrangement of the electrical as recited only in the claims preamble do not add any patentability to the claims limitations. However, Boucher's device fails to explicitly disclose the silver as pure silver crystal with the presence of nodule and the proportion additional metal used. It would have obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the silver as pure silver crystal with the presence of nodule and the proportion additional metal used, since it has been held to be within general skill in the art to select a known material on the basis of suitability for the intended used as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416. It would have obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the silver as pure silver crystal with the presence of nodule and the proportion additional metal used in order to meet the system specification and requirement.

In regard to claim 51-52, Boucher's device discloses the aforementioned limitations including the switch or interrupter connected at 64. and the busbar (see figs 3-4).

In regard to claim 38, Boucher's device discloses the aforementioned limitations, but fails to explicitly disclose the shape as being a ring shape. It would have been obvious matter of design choice to have the electrical contact with the ring shape, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in shape of a component. A change in shape is generally recognizing as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Dailey, 149 USPQ 47 (CCPA 1976). It would have obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the electrical contact with the ring shape in order to meet the system specification and requirement.

Conclusion

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 40, 53-55 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
